Gender, Extremism and Thinking Through Masculinities

By Dr Elizabeth Pearson

Thursday 19th May, 1pm (BST) on Microsoft Teams

Dr Elizabeth Pearson is a Lecturer in Criminology with the Conflict, Violence and terrorism Research Centre at Royal Holloway. Her research interests are in gender, extremism and counter-extremism.

Elizabeth is currently working on a book on the Making of Extreme Men, based on ESRC-funded PhD research at King's College London. This focuses on masculinities in Islamist and radical right movements in the UK.

She is also a co-author of the book Countering Violent Extremism: Making Gender Matter. The book argues for a nuanced approach to gender in theorising extremism, and in practical measures to counter this. The book is the result of research with RUSI (the Royal United Services Institute) in 2015-6 in five countries - Canada, France, Germany, the Netherlands and the UK.

Dr Pearson's full publication record is available on Pure.
